

The Candy Game

This exercise does not measure your intelligence, your fluency with words, or your mathematical ability.

It can, however, give you a gauge of your mental flexibility and creativity.

Use this activity as a team-building exercise by having your employees work in teams. Give all teams a minute and a half to complete the exercise with as many answers as possible.

Directions: Examine each of the following clues and identify each type of candy being described.

Example: Home run champ = Baby Ruth

Galaxy =

What bees make =

The guy every woman wants =

Road in New York City =

Two female pronouns =

A sweet, affectionate action =

Indian burial grounds =

Feline (young & old) =

Galactic explosion =

Noisy bite =

Famous author =

Other name for Superman =

Double letters =

Special day for working people =

City in England =
